how do historical and literary details contribute to a coherent theological witness to Jesus in the Gospel of John? A leading British evangelical New Testament scholar answers that question with studies on themes from messianism to monotheism, symbolic actions from foot washing to fish catching, literary contexts from Qumran to the Hellenistic historians and figures from Nicodemus to the Beloved Disciple to Papias. Originally published in various journals and collections, these essays are now available for the first time in one affordable volume with a substantial new introduction that ties them all together. A must have for serious students of the Fourth Gospel.

The writings of the Apostolic Fathers refer to a group of miscellaneous Christian writings produced in the first and second centuries. The authors of these writings were considered by seventeenth-century scholars to be the next generation of apostles, and as a result were named the Apostolic Fathers. Perceived by many scholars to be the most important collection of post-New Testament writings, a number of these texts were in fact considered for the canon of the New Testament but later rejected. Their obvious significance stems from the fact that they are the first Christian writings produced outside the New Testament canon and as such contain an essential insight into the development of the early Christian church and Christian thinking. Much Christian doctrine came not from the New Testament but from the writings produced by the early church, and in particular the writings of the Apostolic Fathers. Therefore, these texts are crucial to an understanding of the shaping of Christian thought and Christian doctrine. This volume will provide readers with an overview of each of the eleven texts together with a general introduction communicating the best recent scholarship to a broad audience. Each chapter offers a treatment of the most controversial aspects of each text and discusses the theology of each of the writings in order to orient readers to the development of Christian thinking in the second century. Each article ends with a carefully chosen select bibliography to enable further reading.

While the early Christian texts discussed in this book are often treated as Gnostic ones, they are here approached as witnesses to the views of educated christians engaged in dialogue with philosophical traditions following the idea that ancient philosophical schools provided their adherents with ways of life ismo dunderberg explores issues related to morality and lifestyle in non canonical gospels and among groups that were gradually denounced as heretical in the church he deals with the soul s progress from material concerns to a life dominated by spirit the control of emotions the avoidance of luxury the ideal perfect human as a tool in moral instruction classifications of humankind into distinct groups based on their moral advancement and christian debates about the value of martyrdom in addition he offers a critical review of some recent trends and attitudes in new testament scholarship
