this book is the only full scale account of the strategic air offensive against germany published in the last twenty years and is the only one that treats the british and the americans with parity much of what levine writes about british operations will be unfamiliar to american readers he has stressed the importance of winning air superiority and the role of escort fighters in strategic bombing and has given more attention to the german side than most writers on air warfare have levine gets past a simple account of what we did to them and describes the target systems and german countermeasures in detail providing exact yet dramatic accounts of the great bomber operations the ruhr dams ploesti and regensburg and schweinfurt the book is broad guaged touching many matters from the development of bombing doctrine before the war to the technical development of the luftwaffe and the raf jets and v weapons to the role of the heavy bombers in supporting land and sea operations levine stresses the impact of bombing on the war and generally endorses the strategic air campaign as worthwhile and effective but he concludes that many mistakes were made by the allies both the british and the americans in tactics the development of equipment and in the selection of targets levine sees strategic bombing as a powerful tool that was often misused particularly when the doctrine of area bombing flourished scholars students and buffs interested in world war ii and or the history of aviation will find this study of great interest a steadfast misbelief in precision bombing evolved into the leading concept for us army air force during the second world war this concept envisioned the destruction of the german industrial and economic system as the swiftest path to victory however the belief in survivability of bombers through self defense proved incorrect and the allies realized that the luftwaffe had to be defeated first by attacking the german aircraft industry on 22 february 1944 eighth air force conducted a mission as part of this offensive during this mission the bombers were recalled because of severe weather on the return trip the airmen decided not to abandon the mission outright but to attack targets of opportunity because of navigational errors a section of 446 bombardment group misidentified the dutch city nijmegen as in germany and bombed it due to aiming errors the greater part of the bombs missed the designated marshalling yards by a kilometer and hit the city center instead the bombardment caused chaos on the ground it surprised the citizens ignorant by earlier faulty alarms and damage caused great difficulties for the provision of aid relief as a result the bombardment killed about 800 citizens and destroyed the historic city center
